Our family is so grateful that our dinner our is not interrupted by constant telephone solicitation. This is our only opportunity for our family to share time together. We do not want the FCC to implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. We have distinctive ringing on our telephone for our children. Now our children get the telephone solicitation. I thought the telephone privacy law would include the other two numbers when we gave our main telephone number, but it did not. We can't wait to be able to give the two other numbers to those responsible for the privacy law. We have it now so that the children cannot receive calls during the dinner hour. Their friends know it, so they know if someone else is calling, it's not a friend from school or work.

Please, please let us keep the Telephone privacy law.

Thank you in advance.
